Transfer a qualifying margin balance, get a great margin rate

Unlock lower rate

Hi Carly, want a lower margin rate? You can unlock a lower margin rate when you transfer a qualifying margin balance from another brokerage.

Here's how it works:

- Transfer your margin balance from another brokerage by June 15, 2025
- You could unlock a lower margin rate on your account's margin balance for 90 days*
- After 90 days, you'll return to some of the industry's lowest margin rates

Here are the margin rates you can unlock based on your transfer amount:

- 5.5% for margin balance transfers above $1K
- 5.3% for margin balance transfers above $50K
- 5% for margin balance transfers above $100K
- 4.75% for margin balance transfers above $1M
- 4.7% for margin balance transfers above $10M
- 4.45% for margin balance transfers above $50M

*Margin rates are subject to change at any time. The promotional rates are based on the federal fund target rate upper bound, which is 4.5% as of May 29th, 2025. See standard, non-promotional margin rates here. Investing with margin involves additional risks.

The promotional rates are subject to terms and conditions. Visit the terms and conditions for more information. This isn't a transfer recommendation.

All investments involve risk and loss of principal is possible.

Margin borrowing increases your level of market risk, as a result it has the potential to magnify both your gains and losses. Before using margin, customers must determine whether this type of strategy is right for them given their investment objectives and risk tolerance. Regardless of the underlying value of the securities you purchased, you must repay your margin loan. Robinhood Financial can change its maintenance margin requirements at any time without prior notice. If the equity in your account falls below the minimum maintenance requirements (varies according to the security), you'll have to deposit additional cash or acceptable collateral. If you fail to meet your minimums, Robinhood Financial may be forced to sell some or all of your securities, with or without your prior approval. For more information please see Robinhood Financial's Margin Disclosure Statement, Margin Agreement and FINRA Investor Information.
